STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In the pursuit of globalisation, India has responded by opening up its economy, removing controls and resorting to liberalisation. The natural corollary of this is that the Indian market should be geared to face competition from within the country and outside. The Monopolies and Restrictive Trade Practices Act, 1969 has become obsolete in certain respects in the light of international economic developments relating more particularly to competition laws and there is a need to shift our focus from curbing monopolies to promoting competition.

2. The Central Government constituted a High Level Committee on Competition Policy and Law. The Committee submitted its report on the 22nd May, 2000 to the Central Government. The Central Government consulted all concerned including the trade and industry associations and the general public. The Central Government after considering the suggestions of the trade and industry and the general public decided to enact a law on Competition.

3. The Competition Bill, 2001 seeks to ensure fair competition in India by prohibiting trade practices which cause appreciable adverse effect on competition in markets within India and, for this purpose, provides for the establishment of a quasi-judicial body to be called the Competition Commission of India (hereinafter referred to as CCI) which shall also undertake competition advocacy for creating awareness and imparting training on competition issues.

4. The Bill also aims at curbing negative aspects of competition through the medium of CCI. CCI will have a Principal Bench and Additional Benches and will also have one or more Mergers Benches. It will look into violations of the Act, a task which could be undertaken by the Commission based on its own knowledge or information or complaints received and references made by the Central Government, the State Governments or statutory authorities. The Commission can pass orders for granting interim relief or any other appropriate relief and compensation or an order imposing penalties etc. An appeal from the orders of the Commission shall lie to the Supreme Court. The Central Government will also have powers to issue directions to the Commission on policy matters after considering its suggestions as well as the power to supersede the Commission if such a situation is warranted.

5. The Bill also provides for investigation by the Director-General for the Commission. The Director-General would be able to act only if so directed by the Commission but will not have any suo-moto powers for initiating investigations.

6. The Bill confers power upon the CCI to levy penalty for contravention of its orders, failure to comply with its directions, making of false statements or omission to furnish material information, etc. The CCI can levy upon an enterprise a penalty of not more than ten per cent. of its average turn-over for the last three financial years. It can also order division of dominant enterprises. It will also have power to order demerger in the case of mergers and amalgamations that adversely affect competition.

7. The Bill also seeks to create a fund to be called the Competition Fund. The grants given by the Central Government, costs realised by the Commission and application fees charged will be credited into this Fund. The pay and allowances and the other expenses of the Commission will also be borne out of this Fund. The Bill provides for empowering the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India to audit the accounts of the Commission. The Central Government will be required to lay the annual accounts of the Commission, as audited by the Comptroller and Auditor-General and also the annual report of the Commission before both the Houses of Parliament.

8. The Bill aims at repealing the Monopolies and Restrictive Trade Practices Act, 1969 and the dissolution of the Monopolies and Restrictive Trade Practices Commission. The Bill provides that the cases pending before the Monopolies and Restrictive Trade Practices Commission will be transferred to the CCI except those relating to unfair trade practices which are proposed to be transferred to the relevant fora established under the Consumer Protection Act, 1986.

9. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.
